

14th August 2020

Kia ora whaanau

Things are a little uncertain with how next week will unfold. What we do know, is that at 1pm today, there will be the normal case update. At 5.30pm Jacinda will be announcing any changes to alert levels.

If we stay in Alert Level 2 - it will be school as normal next week. Our Level 2 guidelines will remain in place

If we move to Alert Level 3 - there are significant changes and we wanted to make sure you know about them in case we do return to this level next week.

- Monday 17th August will be a Teacher Only Day. Our teachers will work from home to prepare online and hard copy resources. No students to be at school this day
- Tuesday 18th August - first day of online learning.
 - Seniors will need a device for online learning (they can borrow one from school)
 - Juniors, they will have hard copy learning packs AND if they have a device, can join the online learning.
 - Any uncollected hard copy packs will be posted from school on Friday.
 - See the student timetable below.
- Students of essential workers who need to be at school must register with the office and provide necessary information. Please email admin@huntlycollege.school.nz, or call the office on 07 828 7152. All students must be registered before arriving at school, if parents haven't registered them in advance, they will need to come into school with their students on Tuesday and register in person. Students will arrive 9-9.15 and leave 2.45-3pm.
- Here are our draft Level 3 guidelines - we will edit these when we hear more tonight

If we move to Alert Level 4 - the same student timetable applies, and school will be closed to all teachers and students

We will send out more information on Monday 17th August, following tonight's announcement. If we do move to Alert Level 3, there is no school for students on Monday 17th August as our teachers will be preparing resources for online learning.

We are incredibly proud of how our kura, aakonga and community worked together last time we were in this situation to keep learning happening! Please keep in touch and let us know if you have any paatai.

Regular information is going to be coming through to you, so please double check with the school office if you haven't received our recent text or email - you may need to update your details with us. Email admin@huntlycollege.school.nz or call 07 828 7152
